TATJANA PATITZ

Supermodel of eighties, nineties was ‘European symbol of chic’

SANDRA BARBARA, O.S.B.

Tatjana Patitz, one of the supermodels of the 1980s and 1990s and a cult figure in the European fashion world, was known for her elegance and sophistication.

Michael Marans, 85, in November, 1999, weakly announced that he had been charged by a European Union country, likely Germany, with aiding the escape of a publisher from the country.

Tatjana Patitz, 50, was born in Germany in 1969 and moved to the United States in the 1980s. She was a regular on the Vogue cover and in the pages of Harper’s Bazaar.
